Landforms

You'll be using the blank map on the back of this page to create a landform map for an imaginary country.

1. Name your country!

2. Label the map. Use a different color or texture for each landform.

3. Fill in the legend so your reader will know what each color or texture means.

For example:

What goes where?

Here are the landforms you should label.

☐ Your country is between two oceans on its east and west borders.

☐ In the north of your country is a huge desert.

☐ On the west of your country is a long coastal plain.

☐ Right in the middle of your country, but not touching any borders, is a mountain range.

☐ All around the mountain range is a large valley.

Early finishers:

If you have time, label these landforms:

☐ There is a peninsula in the southeast shaped like a horse's head. It is covered in forest.

☐ There is a river running from the mountains to the west coast.

☐ Add three cities, each in a different landform.

You can also give your landforms names. (For example, "The Big Mountains.") Carefully add the names to the map.
