

Regions of the United States Fold-Up

To the Teacher

This product was made to provide a comparison of the regions of the United States.

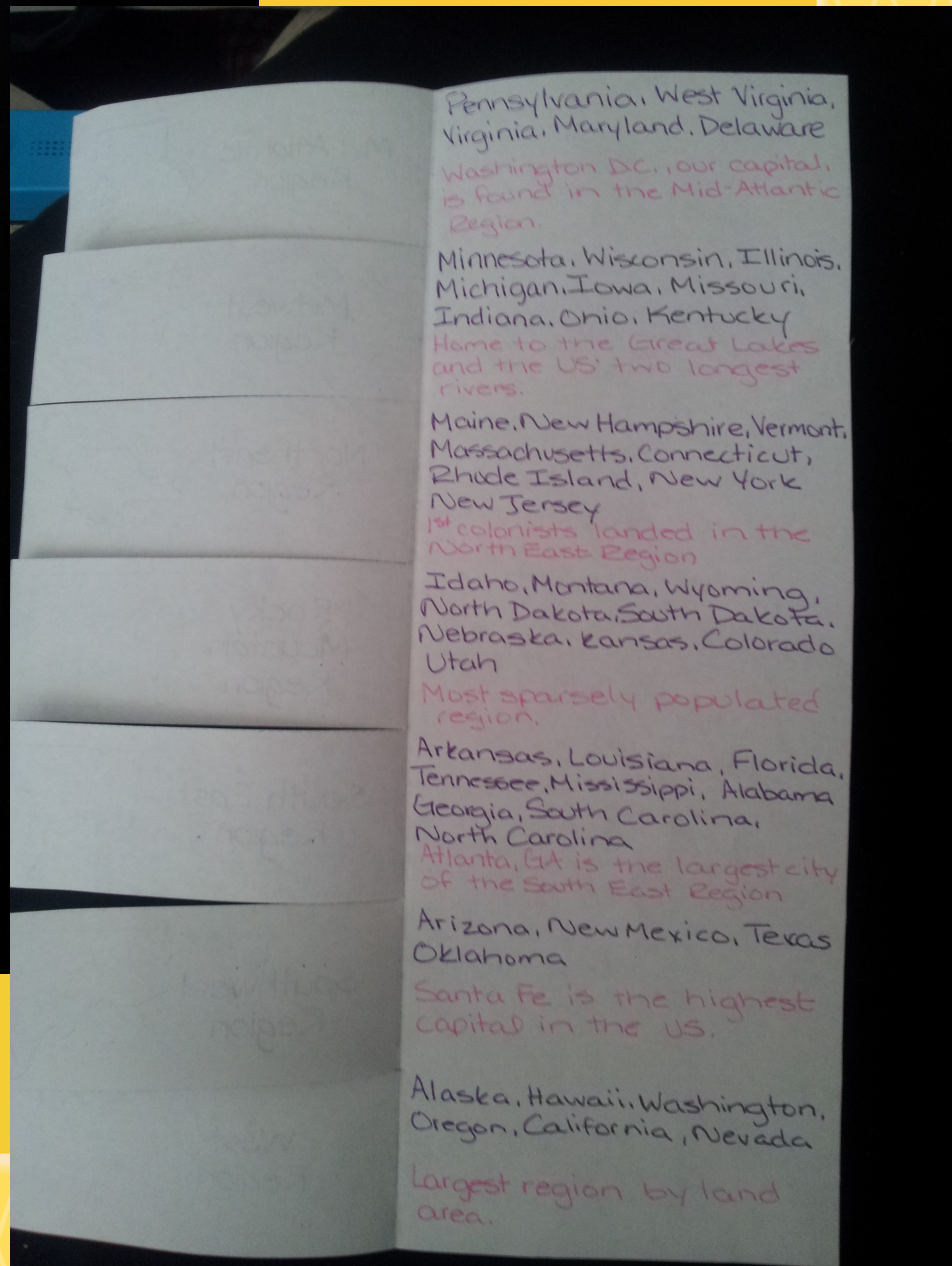

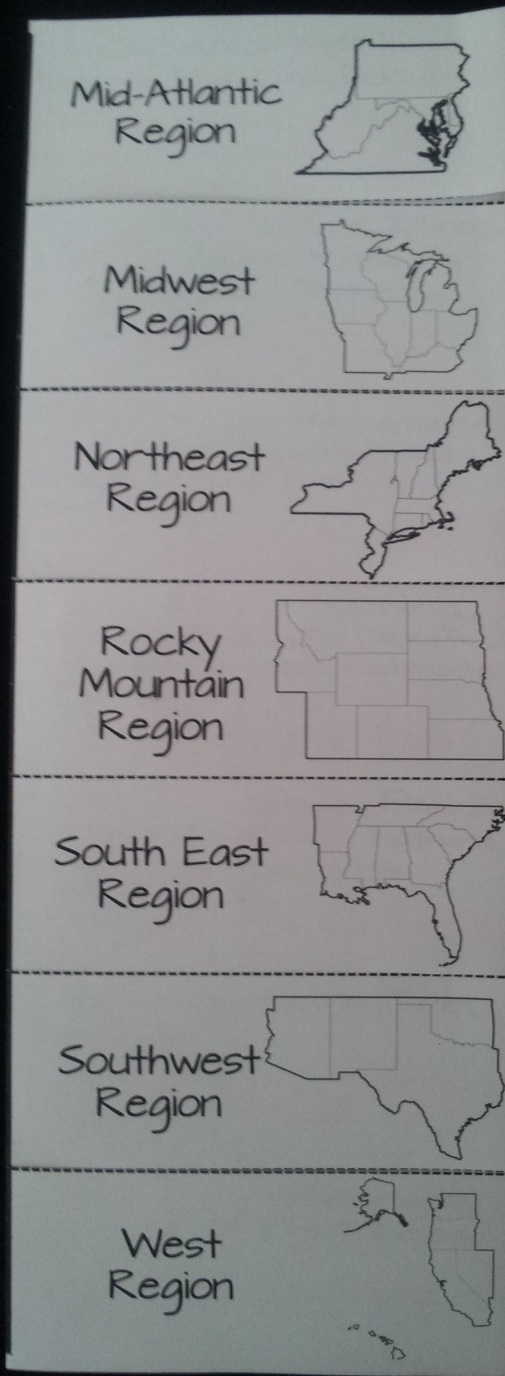

After copying one fold-up template for each student cut along the dotted lines and fold along the bold lines.

You can use your own information or research to add facts about each region of the United States

After completing the fold-up, use the included reflection questions to stretch students' thinking.

This is a great product to use in your interactive social studies journal!

Reflection Questions

What do the seven different regions of the United States have in common?

If you had to choose which region to live in, which region would you choose? Why?

Pick two regions and create a Venn-diagram or Double-Bubble Map comparing and contrasting them.

How would you explain each of the regions using only one sentence for each?
